INTRODUCTION

The American Council for Construction Education (ACCE) is a 501(c)(3) private non-profit corporation. The mission of ACCE is to be a leading global advocate of quality construction education; and to promote, support, and accredit quality construction education programs. The primary goal is the promotion and continued improvement of postsecondary construction education. Specifically, ACCE’s primary focus is to accredit construction education programs in colleges and universities that request its evaluation and meet its standards and criteria.

The Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA) provides the oversight of ACCE as the accrediting agency for a four-year baccalaureate degree, two-year associate degree, and master degree programs in construction, construction science, construction management, and construction technology programs.

ACCE also offers Recognition of Continuing Education courses for Non-Degree Programs that are developed, designed, and implemented by our industry partners and associate organizations. Based on our industry partners’ demand and request, ACCE is preparing to provide the accreditation services for skilled workforce and apprenticeship programs.

ACCE was organized in 1974 by the American Institute of Constructors (AIC), the constructor’s professional organization, and the Associated Schools of Construction (ASC). ACCE enjoys the support of these two associations and many of the North American building and contracting associations and the academic Institutions seeking to satisfy the needs for highly qualified entry-level management personnel into the construction profession.

By working together under the aegis of ACCE, representatives of the entire construction community and the public at large, construction educators and constructors establish and maintain standards and criteria for accreditation, provide guidance to those seeking to achieve accredited status, and carry out the accreditation and reaccreditation processes. In doing so, ACCE serves potential students’ interests by helping them identify Institutions and Construction Degree Programs that offer quality education in construction management and technology. It also serves the industry’s interests by enabling employers to identify persons who, because of their education and training, have the potential for making lasting contributions to the industry and their profession.

ACCE also serves the interests of owners/users of constructed facilities and the public by raising the professional caliber of constructors and the quality of the construction they build and acquire.

ACCE has developed reciprocal agreements with the National Board for Construction Management Accreditation (NBCMA) of the People’s Republic of China, the Canadian Technology Accreditation Board (CTAB), and The Chartered Institute of Builders (CIOB) in the United Kingdom. These agreements recognize university degree programs accredited by NBCMA, CTAB, and CIOB to be equivalent to Baccalaureate Degree Programs or Associate Degree Programs accredited by ACCE and the same equivalency for NBCMA, CTAB, and CIOB accredited Degree Programs.

AMERICAN COUNCIL FOR CONSTRUCTION EDUCATION

Since 1974, the American Council for Construction Education has been a leading global advocate that promotes, supports, and accredits quality construction education programs.
On behalf of the Board of Trustees, it is a great privilege to present the ACCE Annual Report for 2020. We are proud to celebrate the accomplishments of our accredited programs, our industry stakeholders, our members, and our team of dedicated volunteers. With a small full-time staff, we are totally reliant on our many volunteers for the execution of our important mission, and I want to thank them all for their commitment and dedicated service. At the July meeting, Richard Burt was elected for a second two-year term as Secretary, and Pam Dullum was elected for a second two-year term as Treasurer. I thank them for their willingness to continue to serve in these important positions.

We welcomed a new Sustaining Association Member, the Rocky Mountain Mechanical Contractors Association (RMMCA), who are represented on the Board of Trustees by Mostafa Khattab. We are most grateful for their interest in construction education and welcome Mostafa back to ACCE. Efforts are ongoing to add additional sustaining association members to our Board. We also welcomed three new Practitioner Trustees: Tanya Matthews, Susan Labas, and James Hogan; three new At-Large Trustees: Tony Lamanna, Mikael Anderson, and Chris Gordon; and three new Public Interest Trustees: Ken Coggins, Chip Mansfield, and Sue Perlin.

In January 2019, the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA) revised its Policy and Procedures for Recognition and added the following new requirement: “To be recognized, the accrediting organization must require that all accreditation standards be met for a program to obtain and maintain accreditation.” To enable ACCE to comply with this requirement, the Standards Committee developed nine standards for accreditation for inclusion in a revised Document 103, Standards and Criteria for Accreditation of Construction Education Programs. These standards were approved by the Board of Trustees in the February 2020 Midyear Conference in Jacksonville. After the Midyear Conference, the Standards Committee began work on revising Document 103 by incorporating the new standards, defining the remaining accreditation criteria as requirements, moving the Student Learning Outcome assessment from Section Three to Section Nine, and combining Documents 103A, 103B, and 103M into a single document. The revised Document 103 was approved by the Standards Committee during the ACCE Annual Conference in July. The proposed revised document was posted on the ACCE website for public comment for 30 days. At the conclusion of the review period, the committee reviewed the comments and made appropriate revisions to the document. In October, the Board of Trustees approved the new Document 103 which will be effective for all Self-Evaluation Studies submitted on or after August 1, 2021 and for site visits conducted after January 1, 2022. The new Document 103 will be discussed in training sessions, committee meetings, and workshops during the February 2021 Midyear Conference.

The Industry Liaison Committee organized an exceptional Industry Advisory Board (IAB) Event in Jacksonville in February. The event was well attended both by program IAB members and academic leaders. Thanks go to Charlie McIntyre, Susan Labas, and Charlie Roesset for their leadership and dedication in making this event such a success. These annual events are excellent collaborative gatherings for IAB members. Our next IAB Event will be conducted remotely in February 2021.

During the Midyear Conference in February, Mostafa Khattab, representing the Rocky Mountain Mechanical Contractors Association, presented a proposal to the Board of Trustees that ACCE establish an accreditation program for construction apprenticeship programs. The Board agreed to establish a Task Force to investigate the feasibility of such an undertaking and provide a report to the Board at the July Annual Conference. The Task Force worked diligently and produced an excellent report of their investigation, draft Document 202, Preparation of the Self-Evaluation Study for Apprenticeship Education, and draft Document 203, Standards and Criteria for Accreditation of Apprenticeship Education. In July, based on review of the report and draft documents, the Board approved establishment of a 5-year committee to oversee the development of a process for accrediting apprenticeship programs. The new committee was named the Construction Workforce Education Committee with Mr. Bill Good from the Roofing Alliance selected as the inaugural Chair of the Committee. The committee has developed a draft Document 201, Accreditation Manual for Construction Workforce Education Programs, which was approved by the Board in December. They have identified prospects for initial pilot site visits in early 2022 and are seeking other candidate programs for pilot site visits.

During the Midyear Conference in February, the Board of Trustees approved the five-year Strategic Plan that was developed in November 2019. This plan will be used as a framework for our initiatives and actions to 2025. As part of the Conference, ACCE conducted a Faculty Teaching Workshop to provide professional development for faculty in accredited and candidate programs. Developed and conducted by Tony Lamanna and Tom Leathem, the workshop was a great success with 40 faculty participants. Because of the success of the workshop, a similar workshop is planned for the February 2021 Midyear Conference.

Due to the pandemic restrictions on travel, the July 2020 Annual Conference was conducted remotely. The Conference was expanded over an entire week to enable greater participation in the individual meetings. The Conference, including the many training sessions, was well attended and very productive. During the Conference, the Dupree Education Fund Committee selected two scholarship recipients, one enrolled in a master's degree program and the other enrolled in a Ph.D. program. Because of continuing travel restrictions, we have decided to build upon our experiences from the Annual Conference and conduct the February 2021 Midyear Conference remotely.

Because our period of CHEA recognition ends in 2021, ACCE President Steve Nellis submitted our Application Narrative for renewal of our recognition at the end of May. As part of CHEA’s review of our application, an observer, Dr. Karen Kershenstein, attended our Annual Conference and prepared a detailed report of her observations. Our application documentation and the observer’s report have been reviewed by CHEA’s Committee on Recognition. Steve and I participated in a virtual meeting with the Committee on Recognition at the end of November to address their questions. The Chair of the Committee on Recognition will present a preliminary analysis of the committee’s review of our recognition request to the CHEA Board of Directors in late January 2021. The Committee on Recognition will meet in March 2021 to develop its recommendation regarding our request. The CHEA Board of Directors will take action on our request at its meeting in May 2021.

ACCE continues to have strong presence among construction education programs. We have 72 accredited baccalaureate degree programs, 13 accredited associate degree programs, and five accredited master’s degree programs. In addition, we have seven candidate baccalaureate degree programs and five candidate associate degree programs. We have also developed a list of prospective and applicant candidate programs and have reached out to several of them to offer our assistance.

Two of our committee chairs stepped down in July. They were Abdol Chini, Chair of the Standards Committee, and Scott Sumner, Chair of the Training Committee. We thank them for their distinguished service to ACCE.

We could not function without the dedicated work of our committees, and we want to express our deep appreciation to our committee chairs in leading these efforts. They are: Cheryel Goodale, Chair of the Leadership Development Committee; Pam Dullum, Chair of the Finance Committee; Joy Svoboda, Chair of the Marketing and Communications Committee; Chuck Berryman, Chair of the Standards Committee; Khalid Siddiqi, Chair of the Accreditation Committee; Craig Capano, Chair of the Council of Chairs; Charlie McIntyre, Chair of the Industry Liaison Committee; Rogers Hunt, Chair of the Dupree Education Fund Committee; Albert Bleakley, Chair of the Training Committee; John Schmidt, Chair of the Guidance Committee; Tammy Crooks, Chair of the Recognition Committee; Bill Good, Chair of the Construction Workforce Education Committee; Robert Ries, Chair of the Baccalaureate Program Caucus; Rod Stutt, Chair of the Associate Degree Caucus; and Joy Svoboda, Chair of the Industry Caucus.

Thanks to all who support ACCE in our pursuit of excellence in construction education.

Respectfully submitted,

John Schaufelberger
Board Chair
ACCE serves the interest of potential students by helping them identify institutions and programs that offer quality education in construction. Students graduating from ACCE accredited programs are better prepared to enter the construction industry.
There are five Master’s Degree Programs that are accredited by ACCE in accordance with the standards. Shown below are the names of the Institution, the Construction Program accredited with the link to the Program, and the current accreditation period. Standards by which these programs are evaluated for accreditation can be found in Document 103M, located on the ACCE website.

Through ACCE involvement, faculty have opportunities for developing leadership, networking with peers, developing classroom teaching skills and keeping current with trends in construction.
In response to the concept of quality education in construction, ACCE created a service to recognize non-degree, career-related education programs. This service recognizes construction providers and programs that have a quality process and content that is aimed at providing construction management education rather than construction trade skills training. Standards and procedures by which these providers and programs are evaluated for recognition are found on the Program Recognition page of the ACCE website.
